Victim of Crossing Smash
Survived by Widow and One Son

Struck by a south-bound Missouri Pacific passenger train, Albert Bert Hauffman, 45, Nevada county farmer, was instantly killed at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at Prescott.

The accident occurred at a railroad crossing in the business district of Prescott, three blocks from the depot. Hauffman was driving a Ford touring car. He was alone and had started to his home, two miles north of that city on the Prescott-Bluffs highway.

The car was carried down the railroad for about 60 yards, landing upside down. When Hauffman was pulled from beneath the wreckage he was dead. A deep gash was across his forehead, believed to have been the injury that killed him.

The train was running two hours late. Hauffman apparently drove upon the tracks without seeing it. He is survived by his widow and one son, Sidney.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete Wednesday afternoon.

Sewing Units and Kitchens Opened

13 Employing 130 Women
Under Division of Civil Works

Eight sewing units and five canning kitchens were in operation over Hempstead county Wednesday, employing 130 workers under the women's service division of the Civil Works Administration.

Additional canning and sewing units will start soon, Mrs. Harry Shiver, director, said. The county's quota for women laborers is 250.

Five women were given work Wednesday overhauling the public library at city hall under the direction of Mrs. J. A. Henry.

"Qualification for women to be employed in canning and sewing units were announced by Bert Keith, re-employment director of the county, as follows:

"They must have been previously declared in needy circumstances by the ERC office and to have been placed on the relief rolls, or be widows having dependents and declared to be in such needy circumstances that the benefit program is necessary for them and their dependents to keep them from suffering through the winter months.

"Women whose husbands are able to work are not eligible, regardless of their need unless it is a case where the head of the family is on the relief rolls and work is not available. In that event the wife may be assigned to work."

Americans Seized as Possible Spies

Held by French on Charge of Spying Upon Navy Department

PARIS, France.—(AP)—An American salesman and his wife and a naturalized Canadian couple were under arrest here Wednesday charged by French police with leading an alleged espionage service reaching into the French Ministry of Marine itself.

Ten arrests in all were made, and police said one other leader whom they did not name escaped.

The American was described by police as Robert Switz, 28, said to have been born at Orange, N. J., and his wife, the former Marjorie Tilley, of New York, 22.

The American is Benjamin Berowitz, merchant, Rumanian-born.

Between Berowitz and his wife, captured as they were preparing to leave the country, they had 45,000 francs—and 19,000 francs were found on Switz.

Futrell Closes Door Upon Liquor Control in Special Session

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—In issuing his proclamation calling a special session of the legislature January 2 to consider or refunding of the state's highway indebtedness Governor Futrell appeared Wednesday to have shut the door to any liquor control or legalization measures.

He so worded his proclamation calling the session that in the opinion of attorneys the legislature will be unable to consider revenue-producing legislation other than taxes on gasoline and motor vehicles.

Representative Tackett, of Garland county, Tuesday night advocated legalization of liquor as a revenue-producer for bond refunding purposes.

Prior to that, other members of the General Assembly urged some form of control, and many requested the governor to include it in his call.

Special Session to Convene Jan. 2nd

Futrell Favors City Relief

LITTLE ROCK.—Governor Futrell issued a proclamation Tuesday night, calling the legislature to meet in special session at 10 a. m., Tuesday, January 2, to consider highway debt refunding legislation, to extend the period for redemption of taxforfeited land and to provide funds for operation of the state penitentiary system during 1934.

That part of the proclamation dealing with the refunding problem consisted of seven paragraphs, each relating to a different phase of the suggested refunding plan worked out in a series of conferences between a special Refunding Committee and representatives of holders of highway and road district bonds and other obligations issued in connection with the state's road building program.

The paragraph authorizing appropriation of funds to pay expenses of the special session limited the appropriation to $12,000.

The proclamation included provision for refunding or paying certificates of indebtedness issued under Acts 8 of

Sunshine Brings Out Christmas Shoppers

$22,000 in Two Weeks From CWA, and Profitable
Cotton Crop, Make Record Business

A blue sky with sunshine brought the Christmas buying spirit to Hope Wednesday as shoppers scurried in and out of retail stores in large numbers.

With Christmas only three days away, merchants were preparing to take care of a greater number of buyers than any other time since the panic began.

Citizens were buying. Stores were crowded. Eager shoppers and bargain hunters walked about briskly with bundles and packages. People smiled as they posted their way in and out of the stores.

Cash registers were ringing up sales. Merchants were optimistic. The "forgotten man" grinned and felt that he had not been forgotten.

For many of the men and women it meant the first time in the last three years that they had money to spend as the CWA program poured thousands of dollars into hitherto sluggish and empty trade channels.

Within the last three weeks the CWA has released over $22,000 to the unemployed in Hempstead county. This week another $10,000 will be turned loose.

A survey revealed that the money paid to civil administration workers is being spent immediately—for food, clothing, other necessities and some luxuries.

Not all of the new buying boom was credited to the Christmas splurge. Workers and farmers, feeling more confident of the Roosevelt administration and the future, spent what they had.

Residential buildings were designed with colored lights and Christmas trees can be seen from the outside.

Over at the city hall a civic organization is busy erecting Christmas trees at each entrance.

The city as a whole is getting ready for a Merry Christmas.

NRA Is Extended Another 4 Months

Blanket Re-Employment
Agreement Operative
Beyond January 1

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—President Roosevelt Wednesday announced the renewal of the blanket re-employment code for four months after January 1.

In continuing the general code he told the press conference that all fair competition agreements now cover 70 per cent of all employees who will eventually be covered by codes.

The blanket re-employment agreement was put up as a means to take in the great majority of employees pending the establishment of individual NRA codes.

Meanwhile, it developed Wednesday that President Roosevelt expects Frank C. Walker to supervise the recovery campaign henceforth under the National Emergency Council, with heads of the various recovery agencies united in direct charge of administration and enforcement.

State directors will probably be assembled here the middle of January.

Johnson Superseded

WASHINGTON.—Most gently and diplomatically, President Roosevelt Tuesday reduced Gen. Hugh S. Johnson from his post as czar of NRA to membership of an all-powerful council which from now on will take charge of the administration of recovery program—the quietly created National Emergency Council—born less than two weeks ago.

And now there are reports in Washington that Johnson finally may emerge as chief of the NEC, a high sounding title but one that will give him less autocratic power than he has enjoyed as head of the NRA.

Only a careful reading of the Roosevelt "executive order" which came out only Tuesday, although underground reports announced its preparation last Friday, reveals the far reaching importance of the latest set up in national affairs. The gist is tucked away in the third paragraph of the White House announcement, in the innocuous phrases:

"Hereafter the National Emergency Council will assume the responsibilities and carry out the duties of the Recovery Board as provided in the executive order of June 16, 1933, and as supplemented by the executive order of July 15, 1933."

And now the time has come when Roosevelt, Johnson probably agreeing, has decided that no one person can rule the National Recovery battle front so completely as Johnson has done since last July. Hence the new capture, the National Emergency Council, headed now by Frank C. Walker, silent, efficient New York lawyer and business man, absorbs the membership of the Special Industrial Recovery Board—absorbs General Johnson himself.

The dukedom of NRA still exists and General Johnson bears the title. But the dukedom of NRA is now a part of the greater empire of NEC.

MRS. SID HENRY TELEPHONE 321

The lean year wanes to Christmas. What shall we, the empty-handed give, Whose yesterdays are but futility And whose tomorrows with the zeal to live Are all but eaten up? We may not bring New gifts, the choice of wealth; but we can take Some old gifts from our earthly garnering And give them to the world for Christ's sweet sake. For there are still upon life's attic shelf A few old treasures worthy passing on: Courage forgotten; love that knows not self But only others; virtue men thought gone— We yet may give. If Time's thick dust we stir, We'll find our gold and frankincense and myrrh.—Selected.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

GLADYS PARKER
Girls throwing snowballs often make a hit with their curves.

one, for American precedent always had been that only persons could be libeled. In England or in Canada, municipal agencies themselves can sue publications for libel.

If this principle had been upheld, then such a government agency as the Reconstruction Finance Corporation could sue a publication for saying it was a useless, inefficient and unnecessary organization, and collect, even though no libelous allegations had been made against the personnel of the corporation.

But the Illinois supreme court, in the Tribune case, ruled that a city cannot sue for libel.

In 1912 a bill was introduced into the U. S. Senate which would have made it unlawful to publish the details of crimes and accidents in the District of Columbia. Here is a further restriction on what may be printed.

Indiana has such a law. It makes unlawful the circulation of any publication the chief feature or characteristic of which is the record of commission of crime.

Minnesota Case
But the most sweeping effort to control the press came in Minnesota, and was repelled by the U. S. supreme court only two years ago.

There was in Minneapolis a paper called The Saturday Press. And there was in Minnesota a law providing for the abatement "as a public nuisance" of any "malicious, scandalous, and defamatory newspaper." This law had been sustained in all state courts.

The Saturday Press had the name of being a "scandal sheet," and had aroused much comment. It launched a violent attack on a set of city officials, making grave charges against them.

The county attorney, now Governor Olson, got an injunction against the Saturday Press and stopped its publication.

Its editor carried an appeal to the U. S. Supreme court, aided by other U. S. editors, who were less enthusiastic for the Press than the principle involved.

"Previous Restraint" Unlawful
The supreme court, by the narrow margin of 5-4, ruled the whole Minnesota "gag law" unconstitutional, basing its decision not on the specific "freedom of the press" amendment, but on the 14th, which provides that "No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law."

Thus it is clear that the court believed one of the rights of any citizen to publish, and Chief Justice Hughes wrote in his opinion, "The fact that the liberty of press may be abused does not make any the less necessary the immunity of the press from previous restraint in dealing with official misconduct."

"Subsequent punishment for such abuses as may exist is the appropriate remedy, consistent with constitutional privilege."

That is, government ought not to prevent a citizen from printing, but persons injured should sue him after he has had his say. That preserves everybody's rights.

NEXT: War-time emergency always provides the hardest slodging for freedom of expression. How did it fare during the Civil and World wars, and how may it fare now during the War Against Depression?

"Ann Vickers" at Saenger Thurs.-Fri.

With Irene Dunne playing the title role, one of the most colorful and striking characters of modern fiction is brought to the screen in "Ann Vickers."

The picture is based upon Sinclair Lewis' novel of that name and is said to follow the author's story with fidelity.

Ann Vickers is a modern girl who is determined to have a career and love, too, regardless of conventions. Successful in settlement and prison reform work, her romantic experiences border on the tragic until she meets Judge Barney Dolphin. Even then, love has its obstacles. Judge Dolphin has a wife who does not care for him, but refuses to divorce him. He becomes involved in a bribe-taking scandal.

Awakened to the necessity of choosing between love and her career, Ann Vickers makes her dramatic decision. With Walter Huston, portraying Judge Dolphin, an exceptional cast supports him and Miss Dunne. Conrad Nagel, Edna May Oliver and others.

SPECIAL SESSION TO

1928 and 85 and 248 of 1931 to pay for constructing continuations of state highways through cities and towns.

Governor Futrell said in a verbal explanation of this provision that he believes the state should pay for streets that actually are used as state highways, but that it is fruitless to talk of the state assuming the entire bonded debt of districts which have paved streets other than those designated as highway continuations.

Financing the penitentiary for 1934 was included because there was not sufficient revenue from the 1933 crop to operate the institution after loans authorized by the 1933 legislature had been repaid. The penitentiary has operated on a cash basis during the past year, it was said, but practically the entire proceeds from the 1933 crop were required to repay a loan of $80,000 transferred from the land redemption fund by the 1933 legislature.

A special legislative committee, composed of three senators and four representatives who were members of the general Refunding Committee, will resume work immediately on a proposed refunding bill to embody provisions of the plan suggested by the committee and approved by various groups representing bondholders. Work on the bill was suspended a week ago when representatives of holders of road district bonds indicated that they would not accept amendments attached to subcommittee's recommendations by the general committee.

County Nurse Is Hurt in Accident

Miss Flora Cotton Escapes Serious Injury, However, at Malvern

Miss Flora Cotton, Hempstead county health nurse, was slightly injured Tuesday in an automobile wreck about two miles north of Malvern. She received bruises about the body, and a sprained ankle.

Miss Cotton was returning to Hope when the accident occurred. Running up behind a wagon she discovered her brakes would not work. Another automobile was approaching from the opposite direction.

It was either crash into the wagon or go off on the left side of the highway. She chose the ditch. Simultaneously the second automobile driver thought the ditch would be better.

Both automobiles plunged off and crashed in a head-on collision. None of the occupants was hurt seriously, but both cars were badly damaged.

Hempstead county is paying rent on the warehouse building, 215 South Walnut street, J. L. Rogers, federal relief man, told the council, and it was up to the city to take care of cold-storage cost on such items as butter and eggs during the interval between receipt and distribution.

The city already is supplying local relief offices with free lights and water. The federal government requires local communities to absorb such overhead costs, since the United States is supplying actual relief materials to local citizens.
